LUMBER TRUST IS STILL ON GRILL

American-Hawaiian is Anxious For Legal Advice

The American-Hawaiian Steamship Company seems to be a little worried about being compelled to disclose its business secrets in the Federal Court, according to a move made this morning. When C. P. Morse was called again he asked that he be allowed a couple of days in which to confer with counsel before giving further testimony. The request was granted. Contractor Paty was called on the stand, but no sensational testimony developed. The next witness was Contractor Reynolds, who expected to be one of the strongest witnesses for the prosecution. He has made a number of interesting statements in regard to being driven out of business by the alleged "Trust." There was nothing startling developed this morning. Reynolds simply testifies, as Paty had done, in regard to the fact that for years the prices of all three firms had been identical.

GILLILAND ROASTED BY JUDGE LINDSAY

Jurist Considers Acts Of Guardian As Disgraceful

Judge Lindsay was very pointed in his remarks this morning in regard to the way in which L. R. Gilliland has handled the accounts of his ward, Aplo. About three years ago the ward, through an attorney who is now dead, asked that an accounting be filed and the matter was again brought up recently through Attorney R. C. Peters. Peters moved that Gilliland be discharged from his duties and ordered to turn the money belonging to his ward over to the court, but Judge Lindsay disregarded this and ordered, on his own motion, the acts asked by the attorney. Aplo, as attorney for the guardian, appealed from the order of the court.

The court characterized Gilliland's acts as disgraceful and stated that it was too bad that he could not be punished criminally. Judge Lindsay made the following statement:

"It seems to me to be inconceivable that a man of the intelligence of Mr. Gilliland should act as he has done in this case. I can not work up any sympathy for a guardian who has been so negligent in the conduct of his ward's affairs. The record shows that for some seventeen years he has been guardian of this estate and he has not accounted, notwithstanding the efforts of an attorney who is now dead."

Its Idle To Discount

the part that dress plays in shaping a man's career. Arrayed in an ill-fitting suit of poor material, out of date, or exaggerated in style, a man may at heart be a gentleman of the highest type, and a genius in ability. But the world will misjudge him.

PORTO RICANS COME BACK TO HAWAII

Find San Francisco Too Strenuous to Suit Them

"And the cat came back." This is what a yachtinger said yesterday when he saw fifteen Porto Ricans, men, women and children, coming back in the Alameda yesterday.

The fifteen formed part of a general exodus of Porto Ricans which took place some five or six months ago, when the report that high wages were being paid for unskilled labor in San Francisco induced many to seek easy pastures in the stricken city.

However, it now appears that their hopes were doomed to disappointment and they now return to the sunny shores of Hawaii, finding them more suitable to their style of life and taste.

Whether the Porto Ricans found that the work which had to be done to obtain their hoped-for easy dollars was too hard to suit them, or whether they were driven away by the inclement climate is a matter of conjecture.

The people themselves say that they had no chance against the Italians and other European immigrants whom they had to compete with. They also complain that the cold weather caused them considerable suffering. So they came back, and what is more, they report that the next Alameda will bring some 30 or 40 more of their countrymen who left Hawaii with high hopes, but who are now only longing to return to the Territory.

MORE FOR HAWAII

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 22, 1907.
To GOVERNOR CARTER, Honolulu:
Much gratified by Legislative invitation.
Sixty thousand dollars for Molokai light and $250,000 for light-house tender passed Congress. KUHIO.

The supposition is that the light-house tender of which the Delegate speaks in his cablegram is for use in these islands and is another of the good things Congress has provided during this session. The local light-house engineer's office has been trying to get a tender for Hawaii and it is believed that this appropriation is in response to the combined effort of the department and the Delegate.

FLEET SURGEONS DINED

The Japanese Medical Association of Honolulu gave a Japanese dinner to all the chief surgeons of the Japanese squadron in port last evening. The Shin Rin tel hotel, where the affair was given, was beautifully decorated for the occasion and a general good time was enjoyed. There were speeches of welcome made by the physicians and responses made by the navy. During the dinner the officers were entertained by geisha girls and the affair came to a close with banquets for the Emperor and Admiral Tomioka.

SENATE APPOINTS NEW COMMITTEES

Will Handle County and Intoxicating Liquor Measures

THIRD DAY.

FORENOON SESSION.

The Senate continued its record as a hard-working body this forenoon, getting through a lot of business in a little less than an hour. While the House went down to see the Japanese fleet the Senators pegged away, and as a consequence they were able to quit for the day at 11 a. m. Of special interest today's session was the appointment of two special committees which will practically be standing committees during this session. One of these, the County Committee, will look after all matters affecting the Counties, while the other, the Intoxicating Liquor Committee, which, in spite of its alluring name, will have nothing but hard work before it, will look after liquor bills.
